

IAB207 Submission Front Sheet

Declaring your team on this submission (an additional check)

You are required to declare your team details on the submission itself by completing and including one of the two table options below on a blank page at the front of your assignment prior to the title page. This should reflect the same team as defined in canvas and will assist with double checking.

(option A)

git shortlog > output.txt

The git shortlog command is to provide a different view of the git log output that is more of a summarized view for use in release announcements and other reporting scenarios. It groups each commit by author and displays the first line of each commit message. This is an easy way to see who's been working on what. You should paste the output of git shortlog below:
